James Meyer, formerly the Winship Distinguished Research Associate Professor of Art History at Emory University, is currently a curator of modern and contemporary art at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

2012 GSA HISTORY OF ART BIANNUAL CONFERENCE
BOUNDARIES OF THE IM|MATERIAL
KEYNOTE SPEECH

JAMES MEYER
"BAD ENTROPY"
Friday May 4 5pm
Hagerty Hall 180
1775 College Rd
Ohio State University

James Meyer, formerly the Winship Distinguished Research Associate Professor of Art History at Emory University, is currently a curator of modern and contemporary art at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.